Campaign Windup Monday

Andover's municipal operations will be the focal point of attention the next few days, as the tempo of another Andover election campaign builds to a finale.

Over 14,000 voters will be eligible to cast ballots on Monday when the polls will be open in all six precincts from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., with three contests and a referendum question holding the spotlight.

Vacancies and issues have enlivened the local campaign this year as four candidates seek two openings on the board of selectmen, seven seek two three year terms on the school committee and two lawyers vie for the post of town moderator.

The retirement of Robert A. Watters from the selectmen, after ten years of service, many of them as its chairman, leaves George E. Heseltine, completing his first term seeking re-election in a field which has a woman candidate for this first time in the town's history.

Mrs. Janet L. Scheerer, former president of the League of Women Voters, will be seeking one of the two openings on the board along with Donald I. Richmond, self-employed in real estate investment and construction and Edmund J. Sullivan, an engineer at Western Electric.

Concern for the tax rate, West Andover industrial development have been among the prime issues of the campaign.

The school committee race has incumbent Francis J. Hill, Jr., seeking re-election in a field of seven. Dr. Richard A. Katz is not seeking re-election.

Prime issue in the hotly contested campaign has been the structure of Andover's education program, open vs. traditional classroom.

Competing for the three year terms are John F. Lyons, owner of a professional management center, Harvey W. Steen, a director of manufacturing, Gary A. Townsend, a student; Caroline H. Weinroth, active in PTO activities, Joanne White, a student at Lowell State college and

In the contest for moderator, where Arthur Williams decided not to seek re-election due to possible conflict with his duties as a District Court Justice, Atty. William J. Dalton and Atty. Marco J. Pettoruto will be seeking to become the directors of town meeting operations.

Atty. Dalton, has served on a committee which studied and made recommendation relative to Andover's town meeting format. Atty. Pettoruto has from time to time been called upon to act as assistant moderator at town meeting sessions.

The referendum question deals with granting civil service status to school custodians and was placed on the ballot through petition of the custodians union.

Unopposed Monday will be Fred Tarbox, seeking re-election to the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical School committee and Winston A. Blake, for a five year term on the Andover Housing Authority.

Also unopposed are the five members of the Trustees of Punchard Free School, Fred W. Doyle, Harry Sellars, Dr. William V. Emmons, Malcolm Ruhl and Arthur Cole.

Town Clerk Elden R. Salter reports all in readiness for a good turnout on Monday. Ballotting will be by the punch card or computer operation. All the machinery has been checked out and ready for the election.

FinCom Balks On Industry Proposal

The Finance Committee has given conditional disapproval to the Hewlett - Packard and Arkwright / Boston Insurance Co. plan for development of the West Andover Industrial area.

The report, to be in the mails today to all Andover voters, contains recommendations on all money articles in the town meeting warrant.

The recommendation comes on Article 17 of the town warrant which seeks appropriation of $2,500,000 for a trunk sewer line for the West Andover industrial area.

In their recommendation on the Hewlett - Packard proposal, the report states, "the Finance Committee will recommend disapproval of this article unless the following have been agreed to by the time of town meeting," and lists five specific conditions, one of which local officials were working to resolve Wednesday.

Town counsel and other local officials were conferring with the City of Lawrence officials on the matter of the agreement on the sewer line tie-in.

FinCom condition on this matter was that the "written agreement with the City of Lawrence concerning the sewer connection should be made public prior to town meeting. Moreover, no other project, such as a 'Lawrence Connector Road,' should be allowed to become an agreed upon stipulation by Andover in order to secure this agreement."

It is believed that the agreement, which would be basically satisfactory to the FinCom was in the process of final agreement on Wednesday.

Other conditions set forth by

Bids Sought On Pickup Of Refuse

Bids have been advertised by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin for a contract for the municipal pickup of refuse. The proposals are to be returned to his office by March 15 and will be considered in presentation of an article to town meeting on the subject.

The town manager said that the proposed contract on which firms will be bidding contains six alternatives. This is to permit a latitude in examination of initiating the service, as proposed at town meeting last October.

The alternatives to be included in the bid price call for curbside pickup twice a week in the summertime, rear yard collection once a week and twice a week in summer, pickup of recyclable refuse, and collection of litter receptacles in the business area.

Town Manager Austin feels that with the alternatives, the town will be in a position to judge the possibilities of providing the service.

The last alternative, pickup of the litter receptacles, could lead to a saving. This service is now provided by public works department crews.

A ballpark figure of $250,000 has been inserted in the town meeting warrant for initiation of the service.

It is part of the overall consideration of the sanitary landfill issue, which will be before the voters for a third time in March.

Also to be considered is out-of-town disposal of refuse picked up locally.

The town manager said that bids will be sought on this service also prior to town meeting action.

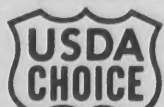

As part of the attempt to obtain approval of a new sanitary landfill site last October, the town manager, selectmen and DPW Director Robert E. McQuade asked that municipal refuse pickup be initiated in an effort to maintain proper standards at the new dump, and also to relieve traffic problems leading to the new site.

The meeting, while rejecting the new dump site, asked the officials to come back in March with the municipal refuse collection proposal and also the out-of-town possibility.

HONORED. Robert B. Hatton, was honored last Wednesday for his many years devoted to Boy Scout programs during ceremonies at South church. Kurt Kefferstan of Troop 73 extends the greetings of his troop to the veteran scout.

A Good Scout Honored

A man that has spent most of his life in scouting was honored last Wednesday night at South Church, Andover for 50 years of service. Robert B. Hatton, 12 Stratford Road, Andover, started his scouting career in Swampscott, in Troop 2 on April 19, 1917.

In September of that year the overflow of Troop 2 became Troop 4 in which Bob Hatton served as Patrol Leader, Senior Patrol Leader, Assistant Scoutmaster and then Scoutmaster. There he served until moving to Lawrence in 1927. After moving to Lawrence, Bob became Assistant Scoutmaster and Scoutmaster of Troop 14 until March 1934.

In January, 1936, he became Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 1 of Andover. In December of 1943, Bob came to Troop 73 where he has served as Scoutmaster, Explorer Advisor, Committee Chairman, District Committeeman and Troop Committeeman.

Members of the troop, the parents of the boys, along with scouting officials and friends, honored him for his years of service to scouting in ceremonies at the South Church.

Candidates Express Views At LWV Program

By Judith Avrett

Andover voters will have some clear choices to make between candidates on Monday. The opinions of the men and women running for office were heard by a crowd of over 300 at Candidate's Night on Tuesday at the West Elementary School auditorium. A variety of views on town meeting, regionalization and the educational theory of continuous progress was represented. The two and a half hour meeting was sponsored by the Andover League of Women Voters.

Two candidates are running for moderator, four for a place on the Board of Selectmen and seven people are vying for two positions on the School Committee.

The format of the meeting was to ask the candidates to respond to a prepared question, giving them three minutes to answer with a one minute rebuttal chance. A question and answer period followed each panel of candidates.

The opening question was posed to the two candidates for moderator. "What would you do in preparation for Town Meeting?"

Atty. William J. Dalton felt that a thorough knowledge of the warrant and problems that were faced in Committees and at hearings was important. "Knowledge does not make one prejudiced," he said. The town moderator should work extensively with the town counsel in preparation for town meeting. The moderator should be available to discuss procedure to anyone. "Fair and complete debate" should be encouraged, "but not beyond the point of usefulness," he added. The appointments to the finance committee should be made with recommendations from that committee.

Atty. Marco J. Pettoruto stressed that order and decorum be maintained. Review of all articles on the warrant should be made prior to the meeting. Committee meetings and hearings should be attended throughout the year. He cited his experience in conducting "thoughtful and orderly meetings."

Dalton placed emphasis on explaining matters under discussion at town meetings. "will go out of my way to explain precisely what you are voting for," he said.

Candidate Donald I. Richmond spoke from the audience during the question and answer period, asking the candidates to list their criteria for appointing members to the Finance Committee. Dalton said that common sense, a good education and a background in finance would be among the considerations.

Pettoruto said, "I will use my own professional judgement." Administrative competence and knowledge of financial and budgetary matters would be important.

A question about an open town meeting vs. representative government found both men in favor of the open town meeting. Pettoruto worried that as the population grew, town meeting might become unwieldy and lose the full deliberative aspects it should have. Dalton suggested that a booklet be printed to explain Town Meeting to voters.

"In what areas do you think regional cooperation with neighboring towns will be feasible?" was the question posed to the four candidates for Selectman. Edmund J. Sullivan, Jr., Janet L. Scheerer, George Heseltine and Donald I. Richmond are running for the office.

Sullivan said that cooperation with neighboring towns could take place in the areas of sewage and land fill. The possibility of an incinerator should be studied, he said. Sullivan felt that regionalization will be expensive and worried that a "regional monopoly will reduce our freedom to negotiate."

Scheerer took a firm stand for regionalization. "We cannot isolate ourselves, the problems are too complex, the expense too costly for one community to bear alone." She added that Andover should remain a "political entity" and should remain in control of its own future while participating in regional programs.

Heseltine felt the question "put the cart before the horse." He recommended that Andover try to solve its own problems by itself. The Hewlett-Packard plant will help the tax rate, he said.

Richmond spoke of the responsibility and liability involved in joint efforts with other communities. He recommended on-site sewage treatment plants such as the one at Western Electric in North Andover.

Among questions from the audience was one asking the candidates' opinion on land use changes and zoning laws.

Richmond felt that it was hard to set priorities for land use in a free enterprise system and that Andover has excellent zoning by laws.

Heseltine found the question vague but commented that Andover had strict zoning laws and could not count zoning among its top problems.

Scheerer called for an updating of the 1965 Master Plan and urged that a minimum acreage be set for industrial parks.

Sullivan seemed to agree with Richmond on the difficulty of restricting land use.

There are two vacancies on the School Committee. The seven candidates are Francis J. Hill, John F. Lyons, Harvey W. Steen, Gary A. Townsend, Caroline Howes Weinroth, Joanne White and John G. Wragg.

The question went right to the heart of the matter:

"In 1967 the School Committee adopted a policy of continuous progress education. Structural renovations are now being proposed to implement these programs. Are you in favor of these innovations? Would you change the direction the School Committee has taken for the last five years?"

Wragg spoke against the continuous progress concept because, he said, it added "little if any improvement to a child's education." He showed one slide with statistics to support his point.

Steen said he fully supported the renovations of the Doherty and Shawsheen schools. He called for a "perfecting of the program in the elementary schools and extending into the Junior and Senior High Schools."

Hill supported the renovations because he supports the continuous progress programs. The schools need gym and learning problem facilities as well as library space. He is in favor of a single educational program throughout the system.

Lyons spoke against the renovations. He claimed that the continuous progress concept had not been fully tested and that parents were frustrated with the system and children were not getting the basics. "Go slow," he cautioned.

Townsend supported the renovations. He called for a program that would allow a child "to fully develop, not just academically." He claimed the School Committee has ignored the non-academic side to education.

communities afford such coverage to school employees and they are the only group in Andover's municipal employ not on civil service.

Question Opposed By FinCom

The Finance Committee has voted its opposition to the referendum question appearing on the ballot in Monday's town election.

The question was placed before the voters by the School Custodians Association and requests the town to grant civil service status to the school custodians.

Chairman Frank Byrne of the FinCom in announcing the decision of the group in its annual report, said the decision was based on views similar to those offered by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, who also opposes the granting of the civil service status.

Byrne said the FinCom could see no great benefit coming to the town through the granting of civil service status, noting the custodians already have collective bargaining rights and union status.

This affords the security the custodians seek, Byrne said, noting the additional paper work necessary to conform to civil service regulations.

The custodians have stated that they desire civil service since it provides security, other

Women's Conference Is Held

Over one-hundred Merrimack Valley area women attended a one-day conference for women in Memorial Hall Library, Andover, on Friday, Feb. 23. The conference was developed by Northern Essex Community College, Haverhill is in conjunction with the Andover Women's Center.

Donald L. Ruhl, acting president of the college, greeted the conference, speaking of the unique flexibility of the community college, which could tailor educational opportunities to the needs of special groups - wives and mothers, for instance - as well as students in general.

The principal speakers were Grace Ferrill, Regional Director of the Women's Bureau, U.S. Department of Labor, Boston and Barbara Schram, a doctoral candidate at the Harvard University School of Education, social worker and community organizer. Grace Ferrill outlined job opportunities currently available for women, emphasizing the growing trend of available positions in management, economics and government. "Opportunities for women are no longer restricted, mainly to office and service jobs," she said.

Barbara Schram discussed the conflicting roles women needed to fulfill in the modern world. "The attitude of men toward women is influenced by a picture of the women as wife and mother only," she said. "However," she continued, "women are not always sure, themselves, of the role they wish to fulfill." She cautioned against the danger of women downgrading the vital role of homemaker. "The issue," she said, "is not the importance of career vs. homemaking - both have equal value - but that women have the chance to choose between the two emphases."

The conference then split up into small discussion groups. Workshop leaders and resource people included the following Northern Essex personnel: John Peroni, Director of the Division of Continuing Education and Community Services, Cecilia Furlotte, Director of Admissions; Sheila Shively, Director of the Discovery Program; Jayne Geneva, Chairman of the Academic Council; Linda Hraus, Professor of English; Elizabeth Coyne, Counselor; Mary Janowicz, Admissions Counselor; and Eleanor Hope, Professor of English. Resource people from the Andover Women's Center included Helen Allen, Stephanie Perrin, Phoebe Kwass, Susan Lloyd, Naomi Boches and Jan Scheerer.

White felt that the renovations to the Shawsheen and Doherty necessary but was against the continuous progress theory. There is no evidence, she said, that the traditional educational philosophy was no longer valid. White would add guidance and courses in consumerism, politics and psychology to the curriculum.

Weinroth approved of the concept of continuous progress but would wait to extend the program until she was sure it was manageable, worth it and working. She would not change the School Committee's direction but would take another look at the past and the future before making any decisions.

During the question and answer period the school budget and basic discipline problems were discussed.

The final touch had all the candidates agreeing for the first time during the discussion. They all agreed that professionals must be responsible for teaching and running the schools, but that amateurs could and perhaps should be the ones to serve on the School Committee.

resumption of work.

The manager said that the resumption has led to a marked improvement in the progress of construction.

Latest engineering reports on the project indicate that construction is about six months behind schedule, the manager said.

Austin stated that indications are that the facility will be on line at least for testing purposes by the first of June, if construction work continues at the accelerated pace of the past week.

The plant was to be ready by December of 1972. Altered schedules moved completion forward to the spring of this year.

The facility is to take water from the Merrimack river, treat it and place it in Haggetts for storage.

AN OPEN LETTER: TO THE VOTERS OF ANDOVER:

It was with a deep sense of amazement that we of the custodial staff read of the statements in the March 15th political supplement regarding our quest for Civil Service coverage.

Mr. Austin said that "Civil Service law will require school officials to file numerous forms when promoting, appointing or terminating the service of the custodians." He also referred to the civil service procedure as "creating additional administrative red tape".

It becomes crystal clear to us that Mr. Austin is grossly unaware of Civil Service or just plain afraid of work. Does he not realize that this agency of our government was formed regardless of clerical work and red tape to protect the working man in his endeavor to gain and retain employment in other than a political manner? Does Mr. Austin realize that every city and town is asked to do the same filing of forms and has helped greatly over the years to stem the ever so rampant political patronage schemes.

We ask Mr. Austin not to fear the work load but to think beyond this point. Job security, promotions, or dismissals, we pray, will never in Andover become reduced to this point.

We urge the citizens of Andover to vote "yes" on our recognition.

and painting the set - - even without the aid of paint by numbers! they did a magnificent job.

ACT really appreciates their help - - and wishes to encourage others to become involved in the community theater, whether behind the scenes or up front. If you have any questions, please contact ACT president, George Doran, Sr.

The set of "Jury Room" can be seen on March 16 and 17 when the play goes on at 8:30 p.m. at East Junior High's Memorial Auditorium. Tickets may be purchased now at Thompson's and Resnick's in Andover.

Academy Merger Is Formally Signed

Formal signing of the Articles of Association by trustee chairmen of Abbot and Phillips Academies in a celebrative ceremony Saturday morning at Phelps House, on the Phillips campus, put the two academies' final seal of approval on the combination of the two schools into a single coeducational school to become effective June 30.

The articles were signed with special commemorative pens, then sealed with champagne toasts by a small gathering of school officers, with representatives from both student bodies on hand for the ceremony.

Trustee chairmen Donald McLean of Phillips and Philip K. Allen of Abbot Academies, with their respective headmasters, Theodore Sizer and Donald Gordon, signed the 25 page agreement hammered out by a joint trustee committee since last September's announcement of intent.

Highlights are the agreement on "association of their respective schools in a coeducational school at Andover, the proportion of female students in the initial years to be approximately one-third or more", and the establishment of a million dollar Abbot Academy Fund to be administered by a new corporation, the Abbot Academy Association.

The Abbot Academy Association and the Abbot Academy

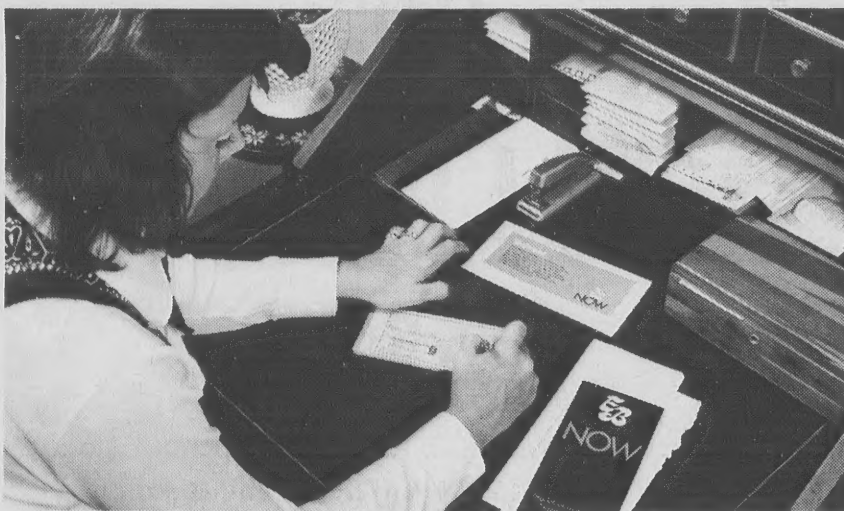

Fund, which will begin with one million dollars of unrestricted funds transferred by Abbot Academy to Phillips, are established with the intent of keeping the Abbot Academy name and tradition alive and working as a force in the new coed school, and as a focus for alumnae service, activities and contributions in the future.

The Articles of Agreement must be approved by the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts before the legal transfer of the real and personal property and assets of Abbot Academy to Phillips, now scheduled for June 29, 1973.

School officials have noted that one of the advantages of Phillips absorbing Abbot, by the agreement to transfer Abbot's charter to Phillips, instead of merging the two schools is that a new charter for two merged schools does not have to be set up.

A new charter for two merged schools would not go before the state Supreme Court for approval, but the state legislature, instead. Academy officials fear there might be pressure in the legislature to introduce some form of state control over the new merged private institution, limiting its independence.

The Children's Room, Memorial Hall Library, Andover, announces that the Smith Family Dollhouse will be on display there during the month of March beginning at noon March 3.

The Smith Family Dollhouse, built and furnished by The Henry C. Smiths of 19 Stevens Ave., Saugus, made its debut at the Topsfield Fair, in October, 1972 and has been on exhibit at a variety of church functions, libraries, nursing homes, hospitals, etc. since that time.

One year in the making, the dollhouse contains cherished items from around the world, candles from Russia, bedspread and hand-carved ivory elephant from the Philippine Islands, tiny bells from Thailand and other articles from Sweden, Portugal, Colombia, Germany and elsewhere.

It has as its setting Christmas Eve, 1910. The tiny egg beater, sifter and candle snuffer really work. A real loaf of bread sets on the kitchen table and a mini turkey in the ice-box ready for cooking on Christmas Day.

The house is built at a scale of one inch to the foot, is four stories high with spacious attic, consisting of nine bedrooms, parlor, dining room, kitchen, pantry, music room, library, sewing room, nursery and guest bedrooms. The fictional family have nine children, grandparents living with them, five servants and the rest are relatives all home for the holidays. The house is complete with Santa Claus perched on the chimney, a delightfully-decorated Christmas tree in the parlor and frosted window panes indicate a white Christmas.

The mini mansion is 73 inches long, 20 inches in depth and 48 inches to the peak, with over a thousand pieces in construction. There are mahogany plate rails and fireplaces, walnut, cherry, maple and pine furniture (over 65% have been made by the builder, Mr. Smith), non-breakable plexiglas windows and tiny individual electric lights in every room.

Mrs. Anita Smith, who inspired her master craftsman husband to create such a dream home, states: I've been thinking in miniature for a long while, collecting tiny objects for such a dollhouse. It was furnished with loving care and if it brings delight to the viewer, sparking a few moments of a long ago and wondrous yesteryear then it will have fulfilled its original purpose. Thinking in miniature has been great fun, and a true challenge.

The Smiths remind those who may think the house rather large, that "in the early 1900's homes were necessarily built for larger families, and grandparents who came either to visit or stay. Travelling in that early period often meant overnight visits."

All rooms are labeled with the names of many of the people living in them, all completely imaginary. Mrs. Smith completely furnished the house, making all table linens, hand-sewed or crocheted outfits for the family and relatives, curtains, drapes, quilts and all bed linens.

Nearly all the clear glass items are hand blown especially for the dollhouse by Mrs. Smith's uncle Roger Sweetser of Stoneham, which includes oil lamp, old-fashioned milk and cream bottles, the star on top of the Christmas tree, vases, pitcher and stemware. Hand hooked rugs in the master bedroom done by Elsie Martin; tiny hand-sewn leather books in the library done by the Smith's older son, Ron, with poems and stories written by Ron and his mother. Son, Gregg, designed posters and Harry Sherwin of Saugus, designed the lighting system (Mrs. Smith's stepfather.)

Dollhouse To Be At Library

Music To Our Ears

By Edward P. Grigoli

George M. Cohan, actor, playwright, producer of the American Theatre, once said that people go to the theatre for one of three reasons - to laugh, to cry, to be thrilled. He was right. These are the reactions we hope to experience when we attend the theatre.

The theatre is the land of illusion and imagination. It provides a break in the humdrum pattern of our lives. More important, it can satisfy some of our basic needs that cannot be satisfied in any other way. In the theatre, we can find an outlet for our own desires. To be sure, there are other reasons for going to the theatre. Some go because it is the thing to do. Some search for a temple of culture or art. And some attend, because they can't think of anything better to do with their time. But most of us go because the theatre can provide a satisfactory outlet for our personal needs, wants, and desires.

In a more universal sense, the theatre can satisfy the desire for response by providing the spectator with a chance to participate in the production. The spectator who is caught up in the imaginative whirl of the theatre feels a fellowship and an intimate personal contact with the characters in the play. When the spectator projects himself onto the stage and joins the action; he is able personally to enjoy the responses evoked by the character with whom he has identified himself. In other words, the spectator is able to broaden his social sphere in the theatre.

Redwings Continue Scoring

The Redwings continued their scoring binge from last week in the Sunday morning intramural hockey league, as they beat the luckless Blackhawks 10 to 0. Dave Nardone was the big point getter with 2 goals and 3 assists. Other scorers were Scott Keller 2 goals, 1 assist, Bill Eaton 1 goal, 2 assists, Phil Weeks 1 goal, 2 assists, Paul Farrington 2 goals, Scott Hubbell 1 goal, 1 assist, John Catalano 1 goal, Alan Juddins 1 assist, and Ted Williams 1 assist.

The second game this Sunday, Feb. 25 saw the last place Northstars throw a real scare at the first place Sabres. The game was half over when Bob Milne was on the scoring end of a passing combination of Jim Higgins and Mike Tanner to put the Sabres ahead 1 to 0. Less than two minutes later Barry Charewicz raced the length of the ice to tie the game. Dave Milne scored the winning goal tipping in a Fred Foote pass on a scramble in front of the net. Jim Higgins finished up the scoring skating all the way from his own blue line. Final Sabres 3 - Northstars 1.

The final game of the day was the most exciting with the Bruins and Seals playing to a draw.

Kevin Hanawalt gave the Bruins a lead as he stole the puck near center ice. Steve Doherty evened it up for the Seals on a double pass from Paul Bracken and Mark Hinds. Hinds and Doherty combined again with Mark getting the goal this time to put the Seals ahead 2 to 1. Dave Birnbach tied it up with five minutes to go on a pretty rush up the ice.

This Sunday is the last before the playoffs with the big game at 8 a.m. (Redwings vs. Seals). The Sabres have clinched first place with 15 points but second place is very much in doubt with the Seals 12 points and the Redwings with 11. The Seals can insure second place with a win or a tie.

March 4 schedule at P.A. rink: 5:45 a.m. Bruins vs. Northstars; 6:45 a.m. Sabres vs. Blackhawks; 8 a.m. Seals vs. Redwings.

What's Turbo-Vent?

Ordinary rotary mowers draw air only from underneath the deck. Jacobsen engineers designed the Jacobsen Turbo-Vent aerodynamic deck with upper vents to draw air in from the top too. The Jacobsen stabilized gull-wing cutter bar, operating within this Turbo-Vent cutting chamber with upper and lower air flow produces a remarkably efficient grass blade agitating action; this results in an improved, smoother-more even cut, highly compact bagging action and an under-deck "air suspension" system to help prevent clogging - particularly in thick, moist grass.

Jacobsen Pace Command variable speed drive enables you to select the best walking speed for your stride, the best blade speed for your grass... Front wheel drive means more mower maneuverability when cutting and trimming.

Celts Win It All

By Stephen Brody

The Andover YMCA Basketball league concluded the 1972-73 action last week at the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical School, as the Intermediate Division Championship game and the various All-Star games were played.

The Intermediate Championship game was no contest from the beginning, as the Celtics took an early 10 point lead over the Bullets and increased it the rest of the game for a final 52-32 score. Captain Dan Billings topped all scorers for the winners with 27 points. Co-Captain Scott Hammar poured in 13 points, while Mike Issenberg swished 4 buckets and Carl Wetterberg and Matt Billings each tossed in a hoop. Mike Wilson and Phil Nikonchuk both played aggressively on defense. Bill Emmert played brilliantly for the losing Bullets, firing in 24 points. Mark Conlon, and Brenden Reilly each contributed 4 points, as Mike Witt and Matt Mirisola both hustled up and down the court.

In the Pee-Wee All-Star game, the South topped the North 13-8 behind the hot shooting of Mike Yuska and Dave Nardone with 6 and 5 points respectively. Mike Muldoon also dropped in a bucket for the South while Steve Adiconis, Chris Witt, Joe Hale, Dave Robinson and Steve Goodman all played tight defense. Karl Reinker led the North with 6 points as Glen Rousseau tossed in one hoop. Robbie Wilkins, Gary Rousseau, Richard Sambuco, Ira Gold, Mike McDonald and Vincent Keegan had some good rebounds. The Junior All-Star game was won easily by the East 40-20 as Owen Keegan controlled the boards, tipping in 28 points. Mark Brennan flipped in 10 points and Scott Hughes had a hoop. Willy Washburn and Andy Sambuco also starred for the winners. For the losers Willy Nikonchuk had 8, Marty Solomon had 6, Frank Pelletier had 4, Robbie Wilkins had 2, and Rusty Serbagi passed well.

The Intermediate All-Star game was won by the South 34-29 as Mitch Rousseau gunned in a game high 19 points. He was followed by Bill Emmert's 5, Tom Luceri's 4, Mike Issenberg's 4, Jeff Smith's 2, and good defensive work by Luis Pizzaro and Mark Conlon. The losing North squad was led by George Bragdon's 10 points, Paul Vonsacken's 6, Mark Skinder's 5, Scott Hammar's 4, two each from Dana Cohen and Dave Mirisola, and tough defense by Randy Hayman and Glen Brody.

Monette Retires As Director

Andover YMCA Basketball Director Frank Monette informed the League that this season was his last campaign due to lack of time because of his job as a Manufacturer's Sales Representative.

Frank Monette started the YMCA Basketball League 12 years ago before it was known as the YMCA. It was called the Andover Youth Center then. Mr. Monette started the League in the 1961-62 season with a total of 32 boys and one division as the Junior Division of which boys ages 9-12 participated and had four volunteer coaches.

The league grew to a peak season of 230 boys and 25 coaches and officials with four divisions, an 8 year old division known as the Midget Division, a 9-10 year old division known as the Pee-Wee Division, an 11-12 year old division known as the Junior Division and a 13-14 year old division known as the Intermediate Division.

Some of the high points Mr. Monette recalls was being known as the largest YMCA Basketball League in the Northeast and winning several tournaments such as the Northeast YMCA Basketball Tournament and the Greater Boston Pre-Teen Tournament to name two of the more popular ones.

Mr. Monette publicly thanks everyone who has participated in the league over the years to make it such a success.

Assuming Adult Education Becomes Part Of Program

Many Andover citizens have at one time participated in the School Department's Adult Education classes.

In January, this Department assumed full responsibility for the Adult Education program.

Since that time people have questioned me as to the reasons for the change. I have explained that education outside the normal school day is part of our total concept of community service. Since the Recreation / Community School Department is responsible for non-school hour programs within the school facility, the shift of responsibility for the evening courses was natural. In redefining such responsibility, there are direct benefits to the public.

Under the School Department the Adult Ed classes were somewhat restricted by state control in order to receive limited state reimbursement for practical arts programs. The state determined class duration, instructors salaries and the qualifications for instructors. The Recreation / Community School Department does not have these restrictions. We are free to offer classes in subjects and fields that are requested by the community, in schools most convenient to the majority. The location of the program is particularly important to us as this represents the Community Schools concept at work. But the most desirable factor in the Recreation / Community School Department taking the responsibility for the education classes is the elimination of duplication of budgets and services within the School Department and the Recreation / Community School Department. This is an example of cooperation rather than competition between Town Departments and means tangible savings to the taxpayer.

As for the financial loss of approximately $3,000. per year in State reimbursement, I would suggest that the loss is negligible. It is negligible because our revenue from class registration is in excess of $1,800. per registration period. Two registration periods are held each year.

During this Winter semester of Recreation / Community Schools we are offering over 40 courses and activities in response to suggestions of Community interest. We have utilized teachers from the public school system. We have instructors who are professionals who are instructing in their career field such as a professional photographer and a lawyer and we have instructors who are enthusiastic hobbyists. We have provided the means of their sharing their skill and knowledge with their community neighbors. In each case we were able to select people with enthusiasm for and love of their subjects.

I want to close this article by alerting you to the fact that there is currently legislation before the State legislature which will permit an agency such as the Recreation / Community School Department to receive reimbursement for education and practical arts supervision. We are watching the progress of this legislation very closely because of the potential benefits to the Recreation / Community School Department program.

Authority On Glass To Be Guest

Sandwich Glass will be displayed at the American Home Day meeting of the Shawsheen Village Woman's Club on Monday, March 5 at one p.m. at the Andover Country Club.

Raymond Barlow, of Windham, N.H. and an authority on glass will lecture on the history and manufacture of this famous New England glass.

Many interesting and unusual items have been donated for the Silent Auction which the Ways and Means Committee will conduct during the afternoon. Members having any "white elephants" are asked to bring them to this meeting.

What Our Readers Say-

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

I have just completed a 21 page study on the present state of the Greater Lawrence environmental protection movement. After three months of research, the one fact that comes through clearest is that the ecology movement in this area is disunited and to a very great extent - ineffective. For instance, in two years the number of active environmental protection organizations has dropped from twelve to eight; most of the school-related groups who are still active are complaining about dwindling interest; the one regional ecology organization in this area fell apart soon after Earth Week of 1972.

Contrary to popular opinion, the state of the Greater Lawrence environmental crisis is no better than it was three years ago when the ecology movement began. In fact the situation is getting worse. The imminent threat of a solid waste disposal dilemma is clear proof of this. As the Lawrence Municipal Incinerator closes, this question enters my mind, "What exactly is going to happen to all the resulting refuse?"

Some how, within the past three years, the ecology movement has lost real meaning. It began to seem "just a fad" to many people - and rightly so.

Many of the early ecology activists were unwilling to back their lip service with concrete action. But, now, this is all over. The glamor of the ecology movement is gone. The posters and the slogans belong to history. We, in Greater Lawrence, in 1973, are faced with the responsibility of picking up where the speeches and rallies of 1970 left off.

In order to do this, I recommend the following course of action. First of all, the weak Greater Lawrence environmental protection movement must be revitalized. This should be done by the creation of a Regional environmental, protection coalition. Secondly, to remedy the solid waste problem, Greater Lawrence will have to do better than the ecologically foolish solution of sanitary landfill. There simply isn't enough room. Thus, a Regional recycling center should be organized with community cooperation. Finally, to renew real meaning in ecology, environmental education should be made available to all Greater Lawrencians.

I would especially like to note that all of this must be done on a regional basis. Pollution knows no political barriers. Filth-corrupted air and water is not going to isolate itself in one town. The citizens of Lawrence, North Andover, Andover, and Methuen must unite to protect the environs of this four-town region.

Retirement, Resignation Approved By Committee

The Andover School committee approved a retirement, a resignation, and two appointments last week, but tabled changing the status of a teacher's aide in the high school media center to that of instructional aide.

Committeeman William Lane got committee agreement that this should be presented for approval as a position change, instead of as upgrading of personnel. Lane said the decision should be made on the basis of need for the position, then Mrs. Molly Ryden, recommended by Library Director Anetta Freedman and Assistant Principal Gerald Silverman, could be appointed to fill it. Retiring next month on March 28 will be James Ruxton, junior custodian at the high school on the first shift. Mr. Ruxton has been a custodian in the Andover schools since 1960.

Michael Byrnes, West Elementary School Grade 5 teacher since September 1971, will resign effective March 16, to accept a position in private industry. His letter of resignation to West Principal A. Eugene Frulla described this as a more financially rewarding position that would not be available at the end of the school year.

Appointed as art teacher at the $7935 per year, Step 1 on the bachelor's scale, Miss Swartz took her B.S. from Mass. College work toward an M.F.A. at Rochester Institute for Technology, where she was design assistant. She has Massachusetts certification as an art teacher and art supervisor, and has taught at Winthrop Junior High School. Miss Swartz is appointed until the end of the year to teach arts and crafts in place of Mrs. Karen Perry who is on leave of absence until the end of the year.

Mrs. Gwen Hedrick was approved as instructional aide at Bancroft School for 35 hours a week at $2.86 an hour. Mrs.

Hedrick has a 1972 B.S. in education from Framingham State College. Before this she had worked at the Day Care Center in Worcester, 1951-52, was a Girl Scout leader and organizer in Andover, 1959-69, and secretary at East Junior High School, 1967-69.

The school committee also approved increasing Miss Patricia Gabriel from 3/5 time to full time as instrumental music teacher, to fill a vacancy for the remainder of the year.

Substitute Policy Is Examined

Personnel Manager Vaughn I. Clapp gave a report on Andover's policy of hiring and paying substitutes; he was responding to Committeeman William Lane's suggestion of a few weeks ago that substitutes particularly qualified to step in and carry on Andover's individualized programs be paid more than what he called "babysitting" substitutes.

Clapp said that Andover's substitute pay of $20 a day is on the same as one other community. The supply of substitutes had been adequate, Clapp said.

Mrs. Suzanne Stephens, a substitute in the Andover system, read a letter urging the training of a small corps of substitutes for almost daily work, noting that pooling of subs was now in effect, to share the work by rotation. Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert said he felt it was necessary to come back to the committee with some sort of inservice plan to provide a highly trained cadre, of substitutes, who should be paid slightly more than substitutes who have not qualified themselves to actually teach individualized programs.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

It is not too late to make your reservation for the regular monthly luncheon for Andover's "over-60" citizens. Sponsored by the Andover Council on Aging, this regular event is scheduled for March 6 at the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational High School on River Road, Andover, at 1 o'clock. Free bus transportation will leave The Haven, 25 Barnard Street, about 12:30, returning about 2 p.m. Reservations may be placed by telephoning The Haven (475-3968).

The Haven is also sponsoring a bus trip to Burlington Mall, Thursday, March 8, leaving The Haven at 10 a.m., and returning mid-afternoon. Bus fare is $1.50. Reservations may be made at The Haven.

Welcome Wagon

When Anthony Tancreto and his family moved to Andover, the Welcome Wagon brought along an outdoor thermometer, among other gifts.

That was taking coals to Newcastle!

Anthony Tancreto is Meteorologist in Charge of one of the nation's largest U.S. Weather Service Forecasting offices, at Logan Airport.

Andover is now home to the man in charge of aviation weather forecasting for most of Northeastern United States, marine weather forecasting for the coastal areas and New England offshore waters south of Nova Scotia, and weather forecasting for the general public for Massachusetts, Rhode Island and the coastal areas.

By the way, Tancreto was grateful for that welcoming thermometer.

Since they moved in a few weeks ago, the family also has experienced an unpredicted rainstorm in their own front hall, where a builder's nail pierced a copper water pipe in the ceiling near an electrical fixture. But

Andover Home To Meteorologist

Barbara and Anthony Tancreto take the ups and downs of moving into a new house with equanimity by now.

They have moved 19 times since they began their marriage and career with the U.S. Weather Service.

Barbara Tancreto says they consider the Andover Fire Department's prompt and cheerful help in that flood a good welcome to the town where they have chosen to live.

Their last tour of duty was the U.S. headquarters in Washington, where Anthony Tancreto was chief of the public weather branch for the entire United States, formulating policy for all U.S. weather forecasting offices.

Now, supervising a staff of 40 at the Logan Airport office, where he replaces retiring Oscar Tannenbaum, he is following the policies he formulated - and he says that's harder.

But the Tancretos requested the transfer to the Boston office, their old stamping ground, where family ties are close, and where they hope to stay. They moved to their home at 6 Exeter Way in January; Ellen, youngest of their four children, is now a seventh grader at West Junior High.

Tancreto is a native of Medford, and a 1941 graduate of Tufts University, which aroused his first interest in meteorology and the weather with a thermodynamics course. He was a math teacher briefly, but when World War II broke out, Tancreto set his course enlisting in the U.S. Navy, which needed meteorologists. The Navy sent him to MIT, where he earned a master's degree in meteorology, taught, courted Barbara Balzer, daughter of a weather-conscious Coast Guard commander, and then went off to Midway Island in the Pacific, as a Navy meteorologist.

He returned after the war to marry Barbara and join the U.S. Weather Service, and they have been moving around like a storm center ever since, with Tancreto a storm searcher, a marine forecaster, overseas at one time, head of the New York office, then chief of the public weather at the national headquarters before finally returning to Boston.

"The meteorologist is the general practitioner of weather," Tancreto says, "backed up by specialists." He also notes that meteorology was an art when he entered the field, but now is in the realm of science. It is cross-disciplinary; would-be young meteorologists should note that math and physics and thermodynamics are basic to meteorology, and a little chemistry and astronomy help too.

Weather forecasting is only possible four or five days in advance with skill, on a day-to-day basis, Boston's new U.S. Meteorologist reports. Beyond that, you're into climatology, which is the science of past weather - simply stating the average weather history of a particular place and maybe drawing some conclusions. (Almanac predictions into this category, evidently, and a certain almanac prediction of 200 inches of snow this winter is going to have to have the white stuff up to our eyes all of March to make good.)

Tancreto's five fold responsibility as head of the U.S. Weather Forecasting Office in Logan Airport's Aviation Administration Building is staggering. Here, meteorologists prepare forecasts three times a day for the general public, with special warnings added for heavy storms, winds and snows.

The aviation forecasting responsibility is even wider, blanketing New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and most of the northeast. These inflight forecasts four times a day concern themselves with what's going on in the vertical atmosphere above the ground.

The marine program is perhaps most crucial, when it comes to the warning function, Tancreto says, as it directly affects people's livelihoods. If winds are too high, a boat goes out to sea may be lost. If we over-warn in our area, Nova Scotia on down, fish who stay in port lose their earning power." The Weather forecasting office has fire weather and air programs.

Tancreto says the Weather Service is moving forecasting four times a day, three, in the aviation program as it already has in forecasting.

The eight hour cycle, according to the weather chief, with the forecasters in each more time to correct and the vast hemispheric map with later data, to take forecasts more precisely local area and need.

How is a weather forecast produced?

By feeding equations into huge weather computers in Washington which spit weather maps and predictions but it's not as simple as it seems.

The new meteorologist in charge at Logan explains atmosphere is a swelling, moving envelope around the earth, with the weather occurring in the three or four miles above.

To predict that weather, physical laws of the universe, velocity, acceleration, conservation of energy, matter, -- are expressed of equations. A mathematical model is set up, by filling equations with numbers from three-dimensional measurements of pressure, temperature, humidity and velocity in each of six (or seven) layers of the atmosphere across the surface hemisphere, taken approximately every 80 miles. The radio-sounds obtained from weather balloons over land are soundings relayed by satellite over sea. The says satellites are now recording weather ships, since now can measure temperature and humidity as well as cloud pictures.

When the equations, filled with this data, are fed into the weather computer in Washington, the computer makes literally trillions of calculations and spits out maps and predictions of the entire hemisphere for several days. New weather are continuously being sent by facsimile circuits.

affects people's livelihoods. If winds are too high, a boat that goes out to sea may be lost. "Yet, if we over-warn in our area, from Nova Scotia on down, fishermen who stay in port lose their day's earning power." The U.S. Weather forecasting office also has fire weather and air pollution programs.

Tancroto says the Weather Service is moving from forecasting four times a day to three, in the aviation program, as it already has in public forecasting.

The eight hour cycle, according to the weather chief, will leave the forecasters in each office more time to correct and modify the vast hemispheric weather map with later data, to tailor the forecasts more precisely to each local area and need.

How is a weather forecast produced?

By feeding equations into a huge weather computer in Washington which spits out weather maps and predictions, but it's not as simple as it sounds.

The new meteorologist in charge at Logan explains that the atmosphere is a shrinking, swelling, moving envelope around the earth, with the major weather occurring in the first three or four miles above ground.

To predict that weather, the physical laws of the universe -- velocity, acceleration, conservation of energy and matter, -- are expressed in a set of equations. A mathematical model is set up, by filling the equations with numbers distilled from three-dimensional measurements of pressure, temperature, humidity and wind velocity in each of six (arbitrary) layers of the atmosphere and across the surface of the hemisphere, taken approximately every 80 miles. These are radio-sounds obtained by weather balloons over land, and are soundings relayed by satellite over sea. Tancroto says satellites are now replacing weather ships, since satellites now can measure temperature and humidity as well as relay cloud pictures.

When the equations, filled with this data, are fed into the giant weather computer in Washington headquarters, the computer makes literally trillions of computations and spits out weather maps and predictions for the entire hemisphere for the next several days. New weather maps are continuously being sent over facsimile circuits to the forecasting offices in the regions.

The job of the forecasters in Logan Airport's U. S. Weather Office is to correct the approximations of the mathematical models, modify the weather maps with more recent local data, to forecast the weather for their area, and for each program need.

Anthony Tancroto has his eye over the horizon to the day of further sophistication of weather forecasting which will include the entire globe instead of just the hemisphere, and enable refinement of that global weather map and forecast much more precisely to specific localities. Prediction of large storms is good now, he says, but the area for improvement is in the minor variations. A variation of only two or three degrees between a forecast and what actually happens in a particular spot can mean the difference between just heavy rain and three feet of snow, between safe roads and dangerously iced-up roads.

A challenge right now, as weather forecasting grows more sophisticated, is to educate consumers to use it. Persons or firms with a real need to know the weather are advised to use a VHF-FM radio to tune in very explicit U.S. weather broadcasts every three hours on 162.40 and 162.55. Recorded forecasts are available to the general public. News media and firms that have special weather-related problems can rent a teletype which will relay weather data to them.

Tancroto predicts that meteorology, will finally become so sophisticated that it will be able to be expressed in numbers alone; then it will have attained the status of pure science, and weather predictions will be exact indeed. But that won't happen in Anthony Tancroto's lifetime, he said, nor his children's.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Meteorologist in charge at Logan Airport says he and his family are happy to be back in New England, and living in Andover - except for the long winter weather.

ON MARCH 5th VOTE FOR

FRANCIS J. HILL, JR.

Election

Monday will be an important day for Andover residents.

Election day this year offers voters a wide selection of candidates to choose as their leaders. The ballot contains contests for moderator, selectmen and school committee, and interest has been better than average for a municipal election.

While all elections must be classed as important, this year's exercise in the democratic process seems to be one which should command the attention of all.

Decisions are to be made in the next few weeks which will vitally concern the future of Andover.

It will be the responsibility of the board of selectmen to guide the fortunes of the proposed West Andover Industrial development, not just at the upcoming town meeting, but to follow through the dictates of the town.

As for the school committee race, the battle lines would appear to have been drawn a few weeks ago when school administrators, at a public meeting, viewed Monday's election as the establishment of guidelines for the future course of the Andover public education system.

Selection of a moderator for the first time in several years holds equal importance to the other offices, since the elected individual becomes the chief officer of town meeting and the guiding force for moving action on the town's annual business agenda.

The issues, therefore, are quite evident as another campaign comes to a close.

It has been a typical Andover campaign, the issues being discussed over numerous coffee cups, at candidates night programs and some greetings exchanged at the controversial landfill site on Chandler road.

With issues now clearly defined, it behooves the voters of Andover to respond in adequate numbers on Monday in order to provide a proper delineation of the direction in which Andover is to begin to move in the immediate future.

Weather and other factors, should not stand in the way of a good and clear response to this annual call to municipal responsibility on Monday.

Taxes

One of the curious elements concerning the West Andover industrial development is the manner in which some tax figures are being bandied about.

Regardless of how they are figured, or by whom, it remains most evident that tax rates show no evidence of beginning a reverse trend.

The six per cent guideline submitted for consideration by the town manager seems to be an adequate projection. The fear lies in what effect that six per cent increase through the year 1980 would have on Andover's tax rate, without the development of the Arkwright/Boston land and the Hewlett-Packard Co.

Obtaining the industrial firm for the town, at the cost of a trunk line sewer and some road construction, seems like a most prudent investment, in light of the taxable return projected by estimated figures.

As for those who feel Arkwright is demanding much, it might be significant to note that the firm is presently the town's seventh highest taxpayer, contributing substantially to the town's municipal operations with little return.

The posture of Andover's tax rate picture in the years ahead is among the most vital considerations when the question comes before the voters at town meeting.

Tax relief is needed in view of the town's already heavy financial commitments, in order to make the community one in which its younger generation can continue to reside.

Such relief, investment in the future, can be provided only through a development as will be presented for voter consideration later this month.

Mr. Monette

Basketball in Andover may not seem the same when another season rolls around.

We have little doubt that the calibre of potential Celtics will continue to grace the courts of Andover and even go on to continue to lead Golden Warrior teams to state laurels.

But a decision of one man who has been a guiding influence on much of the town's hoop prowess, will be absent after this season.

Frank Monette, who directed the Andover YMCA basketball program for the last 12 years has been compelled to relinquish the direction of the Y league due to his personal business.

Monette has been most active in youth affairs of the community. His influence has been felt not only in the YMCA basketball league but in the older Church Basketball league. He also has annually directed a trip for town Little Leaguers to the annual LL World Series in Williamsport, with sidetrips to the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown.

Too often, men of his ilk escape from the scene without adequate recognition of the countless hours of volunteer service to the community and its youth.

To Frank Monette, a commendation for a job well done. His compelled retirement will leave a void difficult to fill.

Off The Top

Of The Desk

It may be March and we have apparently escaped the wrath of winter snow storms, but don't be too overconfident.

Often the area gets blanketed pretty good a couple of times in March.

While the snow account may be in good shape as town meeting approaches it would take only a couple of substantial storms to alter the account drastically.

Speaking of town meeting, conservative estimates place Andover's session at five Monday nights at least before completing business.

In North Andover, officials are still hopeful of maintaining the regular one Saturday afternoon session to complete the warrant, although it could be extended, depending on length of debate on some items.

Signs of spring are getting abundant.

Two annual events which generally signal the season are upon us.

First is the Home Show scheduled for Hynes Auditorium next week, to be followed by the New England Spring Flower and Garden show which opens a week later in Commonwealth Armory.

At a time when 50 cents was a good day's pay and imported sugar sold in the general store for 25 cents a pound, the New England farmer's common-sense led him to seek a more economical alternative.

Putting luxury aside for frugality, he made do with what he had a natural sweetener in the sap of his maple trees. Not as attractively displayed or easily accessible as the neatly-wrapped, pure white sugar loaves which hung from the ceiling of the general store, nevertheless maple sugar was a fair and inexpensive substitute for the store-bought sweeteners.

Beginning March 10 and continuing daily through April 1, the maple sugaring process used by farmers during the early 1800's - from tapping the trees to tasting the finished product - will be carried on at Old Sturbridge Village, a recreated rural New England community of the period 1790-1840.

Village staff members will tap more than 50 sugar maple trees in a sugar camp set in the woods near the Village Meetinghouse. A hand auger is used to bore holes in the trees and small wooden sap spouts, made by copying available antiques, are placed into the bored holes. By tapping the trees in this manner the sap is allowed to drip into troughs set on the ground. Most farmers of the period would have chopped into the tree to free the sap; however, from the standpoint of the life of the tree it is more practical to use an auger. Sap troughs are made by hollowing out logs two to three feet in length using an adze.

When the temperature drops below 35 degrees F. rhododendron leaves begin to cup and curl at the edges. At 25 degrees the leaves have curled so tight that half the leaf surface has disappeared and the leaves drop. When temperatures hit the teens, leaves shrivel even tighter, turn brownish-green and dangle like stiff string beans.

This response to temperature changes is a rhododendron's method of preventing loss of moisture through leaves, says Robert A. Bartlett.

The upper side of a rhododendron leaf is leathery. The bottom side is dappled with tiny air valves that control the flow of air in and out of a leaf.

Cold air contains less moisture than warm air. So when low temperatures and high winds arrive the leaf valves close. By looking out a window on a winter day one can determine roughly how cold it is by the degree the rhododendron leaves have curled and dropped. When temperatures rise the leaves open again.

A rhododendron makes the same response in summer when temperatures become excessive. Only the leaves curl upward to prevent undue moisture loss.

Rhododendrons are also subject to leaf scorch in winter months.

Much interest has been expressed concerning an article in the warrant to provide the town with a new DDT mist sprayer for the public works tree department.

10 Years Ago - March, 1963

Voter interest is heavy as the annual town election nears, with three candidates seeking a selectman's post and an equal number for school committee.

Approval of the annual budget items has been given by the Finance Committee. The total this year is expected to approximate $4 million.

Ground was officially broken this week for stage one of the Rogers Brook construction project.

FinCom states it will cost $41,847 this year to implement a new 48-hour work week for fire fighters. The question is on the ballot.

Knights Again Titlists

By Bill Lafond
Last Saturday night before a jam packed crowd at St. John's Prep in Danvers, North

Andover's Scarlet Knights won their second straight Cape Ann League Championship 80-62 over a strong Hamilton - Wenham five.

It was 18-16, the Knights leading after one quarter. It was tied up several times during that period. Both teams had their spurts in the second quarter, but the Knights were never trailing as they led at half time 33-31.

In the third quarter both teams came out on fire with a lot of fouling as the Knights led by 5 as the period ended.

The fourth quarter told the story as the Knights came out like the Lakers with excellent passing, accurate shooting, and smart ball control. They won the quarter 31-18 and the championship.

Will Uttley was fantastic as he scored 23 points, had 12 steals and 5 assists. It seemed like he was at the foul line all the game long going 8 for 9, including 6 for 6 in the final quarter. Andy Breen had 19 points, 15 rebounds, 8 steals. Bill LaBelle had 16 points. Dave Leach had 14 points, and 19 rebounds. Dick Licare had 9 assists and 6 steals. It was the best all-around ball game the Knights have played all season.

The State Tournament now appears in the present, with the Knights facing Swampscott High on Wednesday night at Beverly High School Field House after Townsman presstime.

They are a strong and big club finishing second in the Northeastern Conference during the season behind Winthrop. They have an overall record of 12-5 including the consolation match.

They are a much improved club since then, led by an excellent coach in Dick Lynch, qualifying for their seventh straight tournament, winning the Class B title in 1968.

The Big Blue go 6'4", 6'3" and 6'3" up front with Rich Dedrick the leading center. Others the Knights have to stop are Don Page, Billy Wharff, Alan Barbanel, Randy Thompson, Jeff Hegan and Hank Casey. They play 8-9 men all of the time.

Dave Leach

The Swampscott game was played Wednesday night and if they won that they would meet the winner of the Hamilton - Wenham - Ipswich game played on Wednesday also at Beverly at 4 p.m. at the Boston Garden at 6 p.m. This would mean that we would be playing Hamilton - Wenham for the third time and second time in a week. The game on Saturday night, if they win Wednesday night, marks them in the semi-finals. If they defeat Hamilton - Wenham for the third time the Knights will go the finals against a club like Stoneham, Winthrop or Rindge Tech.

The championship of their league, the Knights will play the Hamilton - Wenham - Ipswich game on Saturday night at 6 p.m. at the Boston Garden at 6 p.m.

McEvoy Work In Finals

Francis M. McEvoy, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. McEvoy, II, of 64 Russell St., North Andover, is among the finalists in the 37th annual student one-act play contest at Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine.

His play, "Requiem 1173," will be one of four plays presented by the finalists in Experimental Theater in Memorial Hall, March 18 and 19.

McEvoy, a senior, was named to the Dean's list for the first semester at the school.

Film Series Scheduled At Library

The Stevens Memorial Library, North Andover, announces a series of film showings which began Tuesday evening.

Thursday night, March 1, in an award-winning film "The Eye Hears and the Ear Sees," the cinematic art of filmmaker Norman McClaren is explored.

McClaren is one of the pioneers in experimental cinema; he continues to create unique films for the National Film Board of Canada.

During the second week of the series, on Tuesday, March 6, through film Brendan Behan surveys Dublin and Dubliners. Finally on Thursday night, March 8, in "Why Man Creates" an attempt is made to demonstrate the importance of the creative vision, its variety and richness. And with this treatment of the nature of the creative process the library will show "Unicorn in the Garden" a cartoon version of the James Thurber story. All films are free; each program begins at 7:30 p.m. in the library's meeting room.

Courses In Golf To Be Given

The Andover - North Andover YMCA will offer a multitude of golf instruction courses in its Spring Term program. Included will be morning classes for women, afternoon classes for school children and teenagers and late afternoon and evening courses for adults.

Instructor for the program will be Peter Kean of Winchester who is Assistant Pro at the Bellevue Golf Club in Melrose. Each instruction class will be 1 1/2 hours in duration, individual help will be possible.

The complete schedule will be courses beginning the week of March 26.

Last Spring the YMCA conducted 15 courses at the Andover Y facility on Brook St. and the North Andover building (Community Center) with an enrollment of 109 pupils.

Bantams Win Four Of Five

The Andover Bantam hockey team returned home Saturday night after completing a highly successful Canadian Tour which saw the local entry win four out of five games played against Canadian Bantam teams.

After travelling all day Sunday from Andover to Toronto the team began its activities on Monday morning with a practice session at the McCormick Arena in Toronto. During the afternoon the team members spent some time touring the Ontario Science Centre in Toronto.

On Monday evening the team got down to serious business with its first game - against the North Toronto Bantam Selects - an aggregate of the top players from the North Toronto Bantam League. The game was played at the North Toronto Arena. The final score was Andover 6, North Toronto 1.

Andover took a 1-0 lead in the first period on a goal at 11:03 by John Fabiani. Tim Tanner drew the assist.

In the second period Tanner scored at 2:58 and Tom Lawler did likewise at 8:40 to widen Andover's lead to 3-0. Assists were credited to Jim Watson, Fabiani, Alan Kurth and Mark Farnham.

Andover continued to dominate the game in the third period with Tanner scoring his second of the game at 12:21, Fabiani his second at 12:36 and Lawler his second at 14:55. Assisting were Fabiani, Rich Daly (2) and Farnham.

The lone Toronto goal was scored at 9:52 by Dave Murray as he beat goaltender Jeff Hubbell.

On Tuesday the Andover team again held an early morning practice at the Forest Hills Arena which was followed by a swim session at a Toronto Recreation Center. In the afternoon the team toured the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto.

On Tuesday night it was back to the ice again, this time at George Bell Arena against the Etobicoke Canucks, the Toronto team which had earlier posted three victories over the Andover team in a visit here in December. In spite of a valiant effort by the Andover sextet the Canucks again prevailed, this time by a 3-2 count.

Andover took an early 2-0 lead in the first period as Mark Farnham scored at the 2:50 mark and Chuck Redman followed with a goal at 4:25. Farnham's goal was unassisted while Lee Apgar assisted on Redman's tally.

Etobicoke evened the count in the second period with goals at 1:55 by Bill Bigwood and at 8:40 by Brad Syme.

In the third period Etobicoke won the game at 8:05 as Syme notched his second goal of the game.

Wednesday was an open day for Andover but it was not without activity. After a practice and swim in the morning it was off to the Bloorview Crippled Children's Hospital for a wheelchair game against their "Rolling Rollers" team. Andover came out on the short end of the score (8-3) but on the long end in human relations.

The team was officially "received" at the Toronto City Hall on Wednesday and each team member was presented a pin as a remembrance of the trip. Coach Richard Neal was also presented a large Canadian Flag.

Wednesday night the entire team went to Maple Leaf Gardens to see the N.H.L. game between Toronto and Atlanta.

On Thursday the team had a tour of the Cooper Sporting Goods Manufacturing Plant and then travelled on to Oshawa for its final three games.

In the first game Thursday night Andover faced off against the North Oshawa Bantams at Children's Arena.

Oshawa's John Burk opened the scoring at 1:30 of the first period but Tom Lawler got that one back at 2:45 with assists going to Alan Kurth and Mark Farnham.

At 4:15 Farnham gave Andover a 2-1 lead with Dale Crossan and Lawler assisting but Oshawa tied the game at 2-2 on a goal by Peter Nagy at 4:35.

Andover scored three times in the second period to lead 5-2. Rich Daly scored at 7:20 with Tim Tanner assisting to break the tie. At 11:30 Chuck Redman fired home a goal on a pass from Lee Apgar and at 18:50 John Fabiani found the range with assists going to Paul Derby and Tanner.

In the third period Andover posted their 6th goal at 2:15 as Alan Kurth scored with an assist going to Tom Lawler.

Oshawa came to life late in the period with two goals but it was a case of too little too late as the final score was Andover 6, Oshawa 4.

On Friday the team toured the Automotive Museum (Antiques) and the National Horse Farm (breeding grounds of race horses) before their evening game against the Oshawa Southmead Bantams.

In this game at the Civic Auditorium Andover completely outplayed their opponents and came out with a 10-1 victory.

Goal scorers for Andover were Tom Lawler (3), Rich Daly (2), Alan Kurth (2), Mark Farnham (2), and Tim Tanner. Assists were credited to Lawler (3), Kurth (3), Farnham (2), John Lyons (2), Joe Pasquale (2), Tanner and Dale Crossan.

Brian Twomey and Jeff Hubbell shared the netminding duties.

On Saturday Andover faced their biggest challenge as they met one of the top Bantam teams in Oshawa in the morning before heading home. The final score was 7-4 in favor of Andover and gave Andover a 4-1 record during the trip and brought their overall record to 17-8-0.

Mark Farnham who had seven goals for Andover in Canada led the way in this final game with a 3-goal hat trick - his 20th, 21st and 22nd of the season.

Farnham scored the only goal of the first period at the 16:30 mark as he shot the puck into the net while sprawling to the ice on a great individual effort. Tom Lawler and Mike Cullinan drew assists on the goal.

In the second period Dave Ashton evened the score at 1-1 at the 1:20 mark but Farnham gave Andover the lead once again at 6:10 as he took a pass from Alan Kurth and moved in on the Oshawa net to score. Lawler also drew an assist on the play.

Chuck Redman increased Andover's lead to 3-1 forty seconds later as he fired home a 20-footer. Defenseman Paul Derby did a fine job to keep the puck in the Oshawa end and set up the play.

Jeff Boyce brought Oshawa back to within one at 9:45 but once again Farnham regained Andover's margin as he completed his hat trick at 14:15 after taking a perfect rink-wide pass from Alan Kurth and moving in alone on Oshawa goalie Brian Doherty.

Ashton kept Oshawa close as he scored his second of the game at 17:35 but at 19:50 John Lyons scored what proved to be the game-winner on a fine effort. Tim Tanner and Rich Daly assisted.

In the third period Andover continued to apply pressure in the Oshawa zone and at 3:40 Lawler scored his 26th of the season as he found the range from the slot after taking a centering pass from Redman.

Oshawa's John Christenson was credited with a goal at 5:10 as his pass deflected into the Andover net off a defenseman's skate but Andover defenseman Jim Watson, who played strongly throughout the series, put the game out of reach at 7:25 as he drilled home a 50-foot slap shot with Daly assisting.

Andover goalie Brian Twomey was outstanding throughout the game as he made several brilliant saves on Oshawa scoring bids.

Over the five games played in Canada Farnham and Lawler each had 7 goals while Kurth, Daly, Redman, and Fabiani had 3 apiece. Andover scored 31 goals while goalies Twomey and Hubbell allowed only 13 by the Canadian opposition.

More and More

Circulation figures speak the highest tribute of all for any library. Can you believe that on three different days in February borrowers took out over 1000 books in the adult library alone? Another bright and telling figure: 75 children attended a birthday party for George Washington last Thursday. It was a great success! We are truly beginning to burst at the seams, as anyone could tell last week at Memorial Hall Library.

Children's Room

George Washington was given a birthday party last Thursday at the library, and seventy five children attended. They played charades, went on a Lion Hunt, and dressed each other in newspaper George Washington costumes. Cookies and balloons were take home treats that topped off the fun.

Eighty-four children joined us last Friday to watch films about the San Diego Zoo, Spunky the Snowman, and a day at Coney Island. Because of the large turnout, we are planning a Film Festival for the April vacation.

March means Models in the Children's Room. We'll have a doll-house on display all month. Each Wednesday will be a special Model Display Day. Bring your favorite models on the day indicated below and show them off. We'll have prizes for the best ones and certificates for all who participate.

Model Cars, March 7, 3:30-5;
Model Airplanes, March 14, 3:30-5;
Model Ships, March 21, 3:30-5;
Model Animals, March 28, 3:30-5.

Sign up at the Children's Room circulation desk by 24 hours before your kind of model is to be displayed.

Prove It! On Saturday afternoon, March 3rd at 3:30 another science demonstration will happen. If you have come before, you know what fun it is, if not, you had better come to see what you've missed. Open to children in grades 3 to 6 only.

On Thursday, March 1st at 3:45, we'll be reading the story book and listening to the orchestral suite from Tchaikowsky's Swan Lake. It's an enjoyable way to learn the story behind the music we hear, but "just can't place". Open to everyone who would like to listen for about thirty minutes to some truly beautiful music.

DARLING ASSOCIATES, INC. of ANDOVER DATA REALTY of BROOKLINE

Derry Village Town Houses and Condominiums,
Derry, N. H.

Price 20s & up

We sold one yesterday and our buyer said we hadn't told half the story! "They are much prettier and nicer and far more attractive than anything I have seen. The model house was so warm feeling and pleasant, and such a lovely areal After coming to Derry Village I just never could be satisfied anywhere else - there was no comparison!" We never said the lower level was all finished with a family room and garage, and that it was so quiet, that the condominiums had thick fire walls so you could not be disturbed by noises next door.

Well, we will try to do better. Here are pictures - come and see the real thing - we have attractive brochures showing different plans of houses and of the land, and information on how to buy and get financing. Spring will bring birds and a big swimming pool, summer, tennis courts - now, skate on the ponds, slide or take walks to your heart's content.

Mr. Bob Crocker, manager, lives at Derry Village next to the model in the office, ready to help you.

THE TOWNSMAN, MARCH 1, 1973

the FinCom note that Arkwright should pay Andover's share of the Chapter 90 improvement of River Road, and "to benefit the town and offset the expense of sewer construction, Arkwright / Boston should deed the strip of land along the riverfront."

This latter condition deals with the acreage desired by the Conservation Commission to add to their riverfront holdings.

The FinCom also asks "all reasonable efforts shall be made by the responsible town boards to insure that the same 'covenants' given by Arkwright / Boston to Hewlett - Packard be applied throughout the entire West Andover Industrial area."

The board also insists that they have a vote on the initiation of construction phase of the project.

The fifth condition stipulated reads, "The Finance Committee maintains that Article 17 should be amended to provide a 4/5 vote of the entire board of selectmen and a majority vote of the Finance Committee shall be required before approval be given to the project initiation of the construction stage."

This is the first time in memory that an appointive board, such as the FinCom has stipulated its ruling on a project of such magnitude.

In its recommendation the Finance committee states that it feels that a project of this sort should pay for itself from the outset. If there will be a delay of some years on the return to the town there must be other positive benefits to accrue, they feel in making their recommendation.

It is anticipated that there will be an acceleration of negotiation with interested parties relative to the development in view of the FinCom recommendations, which are advisory only at town meeting.

In major considerations, the Fin Com has approved the Doherty - Shawsheen School renovation project, and the Cyr - Cronin - Brooks site for a new landfill. The board also approves the $250,000 expenditure for initiation of refuse pickup in town.

FinCom also suggests use of $700,000 from the town's $1,068,838 free cash account to reduce the tax rate for the coming year.

The National Environmental Policy Act has forced each federal agency to study the environmental side effects of its activities such as pipelines, nuclear power plants, highways, waterways, transmission lines and dams. In two years, the Council on Environmental Quality has received four thousand environmental impact statements, the Massachusetts Audubon Society says.

Warrant Hearing Scheduled

The Finance Committee will hold a public hearing on Wednesday, March 7, at 7:30 p.m. upstairs in Memorial Hall Library, on special articles in the warrant. The FinCom will be on hand to hear private citizens, business, town officials, boards or groups of any kind who wish to speak pro or con on any special articles in the warrant - which is to say any article outside the town and school budget.

Mrs. Virginia Cole, a member of the Finance Committee, noted that although the FinCom already has voted on everything in the warrant, a change in the FinCom vote is possible if new information on an article comes to light.

All interested citizens are urged to take this opportunity to hear special articles in the town warrant discussed before town meeting.

It is not a simple matter to live a simple life today.

IF YOU DIDN'T BECOME ITALIAN LAST SUMMER HOW ABOUT THIS WINTER?

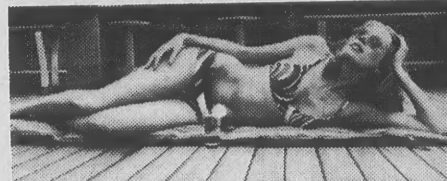

Any one of our 46 Caribbean cruises can make a brand new person out of you (Italian, of course).

Never mind if you couldn't make it to Europe last summer. Gliding about the Caribbean with us this winter has the same effect. After a week you feel like a new person. Because you are a new person. A new Italian.

Right away you'll notice the Caribbean seems very Italian, i.e. relaxed. Happy. Bellissimo. Which is only fitting. The Caribbean has been Italian since 1492 when one of our boys put it on the map.

Loll. Splash. Eat. Tan. Relax in posh, air-conditioned staterooms. Anchor in romantic harbors. Shop for duty-free bargains. Gaze at the starriest skies in the world. In between, discover the sweet joy of doing nothing.

Our 70 sea-going chefs and pastry cooks will help you become Italian. Order a different pasta every night (we can fix it 450 ways). Or choose from an array of international dishes. See your travel agent or cut out and mail this coupon.

I deserve a vacation. Even more, I deserve to be Italian. Please tell me more about the Caribbean cruises I've checked below.
